

Annotate an eBook

Potentially we could annotate an eBook as part of an editorial workflow, but there limited ways to share these annotations.

I use this to note changes to my own eBook.

Edit in the Cloud

The screenshot displays the Google Docs web interface. At the top, the document title is "Ghosthunters" with a star icon. The menu bar includes File, Edit, View, Insert, Format, Tools, Table, and Help. A status bar indicates "Last edit was made 7 days ago by Eileen Sharp". The toolbar shows various editing tools like undo, redo, bold, italic, underline, and text color. The main text area contains the following content:

Chapter Two

She was watching her again. That lady, the one with the loose bun, hair disheveled into floating wisps that kissed her neck and tickled the high cheekbones of a face that never smiled. She wasn't always that way; sometimes the bun was neat, her cheeks rosy, and her corseted, lace gown crisp instead of muddy and wet. But for now she embodied her death, the picture of a tragedy she could not speak, but seemed unable to release into the next life.

It must have been because she watched Morgan prepare for the dance. Morgan curled her red-brown hair, pinning it into submission with extra strength bobby pins. And the lady just stood there, shoulder slumped forward, eyes longing, and watched. While Morgan dabbed concealer onto her nose, the lady's wide, gray eyes followed the movement of her fingers. While Morgan shuffled over to her jewelry box to find a necklace, the lady leaned into her direction. But she never moved from her spot beside Morgan at the bathroom mirror. Never even blinked.

And Morgan ignored her, just as she always did. "Madame" is what she called her because she saw her so often. Madame liked to pop in from time to time to study

The comments sidebar on the right is open, showing three comments:

- Eileen Sharp (8:44 AM Sep 21): Selected text: quaffed. Comment: "O Victim of Your Mother's Pronunciation—the word is 'coiffed'". Action: Reply • Resolve.
- Alyssa Auch (9:02 PM Sep 19): Selected text: Nevermind. What is a Nexus and why can I do lol. Action: Reply • Resolve.
- Eileen Sharp (10:29 PM Sep 18): Selected text: he has agreed to give us the key to his study.". Comment: more brilliance!. Action: Reply • Resolve.

At the bottom of the sidebar, another comment by Eileen Sharp is partially visible, dated 10:27 PM Sep 18.

Google Docs